

GATX Corporation Receives Responsible Care Partner Award

July 9, 2010

CHICAGO, Jul 09, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

GATX Corporation recently received the Responsible Care Partner of the Year Award from the American Chemistry Council ("ACC"). This award was presented to GATX at the ACC's annual Responsible Care Conference in Miami. The ACC's Responsible Care Program has been in place for over 20 years, and is designed to bring chemical producers and their key suppliers together to demonstrate a common commitment to continuously improve the industry's safety, sustainability and overall performance. GATX is a Responsible Care Partner in both the ACC's program in the United States and the Chemistry Industry Association of Canada's Responsible Care Program.

ACC president and chief executive officer Cal Dooley said during the presentation ceremony, "The companies and individuals recognized today have distinguished themselves as leaders in our commitment to sustainability." GATX was specifically recognized for its efforts focused on safety, energy efficiency, and community outreach and training.

Brian Kenney, president and chief executive officer of GATX said, "On behalf of all of the dedicated employees of GATX, it is particularly satisfying to receive this recognition from the American Chemistry Council. Our employees are focused on safe and efficient performance in order to make sure that our customers are fully satisfied with the GATX assets and services that they rely on to successfully run their businesses."
