

Security

Yamana Gold Inc. (Yamana) acknowledges its responsibility to protect its people, assets, and reputation by developing and implementing proactive and proportionate plans to address security risks. In alignment with its Responsibility Policy and the Code of Conduct, Yamana is committed to protecting its business in a responsible manner, incorporating respect for internationally-recognized human rights and host communities.

To achieve this, Yamana continually works to:

- Conduct operations in a manner that demonstrates respect for human rights and incorporates the requirements of the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights and other value-added evolving international best practice standards and codes;
- Provide for the security of employees, visitors and contractors at our business locations;
- Protect the property and assets of the company;
- Prevent, detect, investigate, and report unauthorised activity and crime;
- Assess security operations for their potential impact in our areas of influence and seek to mitigate impact through engagement and partnerships;
- Develop and implement security management systems, plans and processes based on risk assessments and supported with intelligence to mitigate risks to our employees, product, assets and reputation;
- Engage regularly with public security resources to communicate our security policies, standards and expectations regarding protection of and respect for human rights; and
- Confirm department professionalism and integrity through appropriate contracting, regular training and adherence to evolving international best practice from all security personnel.

This Statement of Commitment functions and must be applied and read in conjunction with the Statement of Commitment - Common Elements.
