1. NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Definity Financial Corporation (the "Company"), through its subsidiaries, offers property and casualty ("P&C") insurance in Canada. Its registered office and principal place of business is 111 Westmount Road South, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada. Definity Financial Corporation is incorporated under the Canada Business Corporations Act and is domiciled in Canada. The Company's shares are publicly traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange (TSX: DFY).

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

These condensed interim consolidated financial statements ("interim financial statements") are prepared in accordance with International Accounting Standard ("IAS") 34 – Interim Financial Reporting ("IAS 34"). Accordingly, certain information and disclosures normally included in annual financial statements prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"), as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB"), have been omitted or condensed. The preparation of interim financial statements in accordance with IAS 34 requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise judgment in applying the Company's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgment or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are material to the financial statements, have been set out in note 4 of the Company's audited consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2025. These interim financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Company's audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2025.

These interim financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except for those financial instruments, including those held in the defined benefit pension plan, that have been measured at fair value, and liabilities for incurred claims, assets for incurred claims, and benefit plan obligations which are valued on a discounted basis in accordance with accepted actuarial practice.

The financial statements of the subsidiaries and material associates are prepared for the same reporting period as the Company. Where necessary, the accounting policies of subsidiaries and associates are adjusted to align with those of the Company. The interim financial statements include the accounts of Definity Financial Corporation and its subsidiaries. The Company's significant operating subsidiaries are Definity Insurance Company ("Definity Insurance"), Sonnet Insurance Company, Petline Insurance Company, Definity Insurance Company of Canada, The Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company, Westmount Financial Inc., McDougall Insurance Brokers Limited ("McDougall"), Family Insurance Solutions Inc., and TEIG Investment Partnership (which holds the investment portfolio for Definity Insurance and a portion of the investment portfolio for Sonnet Insurance Company). Each of these significant operating subsidiaries operate and are incorporated or established in Canada. The Company has appointed a trust company as its administrative agent and record keeper of its share-based compensation plans.

The Company's non-controlling interest investments in companies subject to significant influence are accounted for using the equity method and are included in "Other assets". Under the equity method, the original cost of the investments is increased by the comprehensive income of the non-controlling interest since acquisition and reduced by any dividends received. All intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation to the extent of the interest in the associate.

All amounts in the notes are shown in millions of Canadian dollars, unless otherwise stated.

The interim financial statements, which include the Company and its subsidiaries, were authorized for issuance and approved by the Company's Board of Directors on November 5, 2026.

3. SUMMARY OF MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The interim financial statements were prepared using the same accounting policies as disclosed in note 2 of the Company's audited consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2025, except for the application of the general measurement model ("GMM") when measuring the liability for remaining coverage for claims acquired in a business combination.

Measurement – GMM

Acquired claims are treated as new insurance contracts issued by the Company at the date of their acquisition, in accordance with IFRS 17 – Insurance Contracts ("IFRS 17"). For acquired insurance contracts, which cover events that have already occurred but the financial effect of which is uncertain, the insured event is the determination of the ultimate cost of the claim. The Company is deemed to have received a premium in consideration to cover adverse development of claims that are expected to be greater than one year, and are therefore measured using GMM. As a result, acquired outstanding claims are reclassified as a liability for remaining coverage and acquired ceded claims are reclassified as an asset for remaining coverage in the consolidated balance sheets.

Insurance contracts – initial measurement under GMM

The GMM measures a group of insurance contracts as the total of:

- Fulfilment cash flows, representing discounted estimates of future cash flows, including a risk adjustment for non-financial risk; and
- A contractual service margin ("CSM") representing the unearned profit the Company will recognize in net (loss) income as it provides insurance contract services under the insurance contracts in the group.

On initial recognition, the premium consideration received approximates the fair value of the acquired claims, and is the initial carrying amount of the liability for remaining coverage.

Reinsurance contracts held – initial measurement under GMM

The measurement of reinsurance contracts held follows the same principles as those for insurance contracts issued, with the exception of the following:

- The Company determines the risk adjustment for non-financial risk so that it represents the amount of risk being transferred to the reinsurer; and
- The Company recognizes both a net cost or net gain on purchasing reinsurance at initial recognition as a CSM on the consolidated balance sheets and releases this to net income as the reinsurer renders services.

Insurance contracts – subsequent measurement under GMM

The carrying amount of the CSM at the end of the reporting period for acquired claims equals the carrying amount at the beginning of the reporting period adjusted, as follows:

- Interest accreted on the carrying amount of the CSM during the reporting period, measured at the discount rates at initial recognition;
- The changes in fulfilment cash flows relating to future service, except to the extent that (i) increases in the fulfilment cash flows exceed the carrying amount of the CSM, giving rise to a loss component or (ii) decreases in the fulfilment cash flows are allocated to the loss component of the liability for remaining coverage;
- The effect of any currency exchange differences on the CSM; and
- The amount recognized as insurance revenue, determined by the allocation of the CSM over the current and remaining coverage period, which is the expected claims settlement pattern for acquired claims.

3. SUMMARY OF MATERIAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

The amount of the CSM recognized in net (loss) income as insurance revenue in each period is determined by:

- Identifying the coverage units in the group (based on the expected claims settlement pattern);
- Allocating the CSM at the end of the period (before recognizing any amounts in net (loss) income to reflect the insurance contract services provided in the period) equally to each coverage unit provided in the current period and expected to be provided in the future; and
- Recognizing in net (loss) income the amount allocated to coverage units provided in the period.

The changes in fulfilment cash flows relating to future service for acquired claims that adjust the CSM consist of:

- Changes in estimates of the present value of future cash flows in the liability for remaining coverage, except those relating to the time value of money and changes in financial risk (recognized in the consolidated statements of (loss) income rather than adjusting the CSM); and
- Changes in the risk adjustment for non-financial risk that relate to future service. Changes in risk adjustment for expired risk are recognized immediately in net (loss) income.

Except for changes in the risk adjustment, adjustments to the CSM noted above are measured at discount rates that reflect the characteristics of the cash flows of the group of insurance contracts at initial recognition.

Reinsurance contracts held – subsequent measurement under GMM

The measurement of reinsurance contracts held follows the same principles as those for insurance contracts issued, with the exception that changes in the fulfilment cash flows are recognized in net (loss) income if the related changes arising from the underlying ceded contracts have been recognized in net (loss) income. Alternatively, changes in the fulfilment cash flows adjust the CSM.

Insurance revenue under GMM

As claims are settled, insurance service revenue is recognized equal to the initial estimate of the claim with a corresponding insurance service expense equal to the total amount of the settled claim. This results in a gross up of both insurance revenue and insurance service expenses in each period.

The total consideration for a group of insurance contracts covers amounts related to the provision of services and is composed of insurance service expenses, excluding any amounts allocated to the loss component of the liability for remaining coverage, and the CSM release.

4. MATERIAL ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS, ESTIMATES, AND ASSUMPTIONS

The most complex and material judgments, estimates, and assumptions used in preparing the Company's consolidated financial statements are disclosed in note 4 of the Company's audited consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2025. Estimates with respect to the GMM include the following:

Estimate of fulfilment cash flows

Fulfilment cash flows comprise unbiased and probability-weighted estimates of future cash flows, discounted to present value to reflect the time value of money and financial risks, plus a risk adjustment for non-financial risk. The Company's objective in estimating future cash flows is to determine the expected value, or the probability-weighted mean, of the full range of possible outcomes. The Company estimates future cash flows considering a range of scenarios which have commercial substance and give a good representation of possible outcomes. The cash flows from each scenario are probability-weighted and discounted using current assumptions.

The Company incorporates, in an unbiased way, all reasonable and supportable information available without undue cost or effort about the amount, timing, and uncertainty of those future cash flows. The Company estimates the probabilities and amounts of future payments under existing contracts based on information obtained.

Amortization of the CSM

The amount of the CSM recognized in net (loss) income as insurance revenue in each period is based on coverage units provided in the period. The number of coverage units in a group is the quantity of insurance contract services provided by the contracts in the group, determined by considering the quantity of the benefits provided and the expected coverage period. The total coverage units of each group of insurance contracts are reassessed at the end of each reporting period. They are allocated based on probability-weighted average duration of each coverage unit provided in the current period and expected to be provided in the future. The Company has determined that the expected settlement pattern of outstanding future cash flows to be the best representation of service provided.

5. ADOPTION OF NEW ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

In May 2024, the IASB issued amendments to IFRS 9 – Financial Instruments and IFRS 7 – Financial Instruments: Disclosures. The amendments clarify and add further guidance for assessing whether a financial asset meets the solely payments of principal and interest criterion and clarify the date of recognition and derecognition of some financial assets and liabilities, with a new exception for some financial liabilities settled through an electronic cash transfer system. The amendments also introduced additional disclosure requirements regarding investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income ("FVTOCI") and financial instruments with contractual terms that can change cash flows, such as some instruments with features linked to the achievement of environmental, social, and governance targets. The amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2026, with earlier application permitted. Retrospective application is required. The Company has elected to apply these amendments to all payments, excluding contracts in the scope of IFRS 17, with no restatement to the comparative figures. The impact of the amendments on the Company's consolidated financial statements was not material.

6. BUSINESS COMBINATION

(a) Acquisition of Travelers' Canadian P&C Insurance Business

On January 2, 2026, the Company successfully completed the acquisition of all of the issued and outstanding shares of 8527512 Canada Inc., a Canadian holding company, and Definity Insurance Company of Canada (then known as Travelers Insurance Company of Canada) and The Dominion of Canada General Insurance Company, both of which are Canadian insurance companies, for cash consideration of approximately $3.3 billion (the "Travelers Transaction"). Travelers retained its Canadian surety business and certain select business lines. Travelers also retained the Canadian branch of St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company, which entered into assumption reinsurance agreements with Definity Insurance Company of Canada to cause Definity Insurance Company of Canada to assume the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company business that the Company had acquired, and, conversely, for St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company to assume the Definity Insurance Company of Canada business that Travelers had retained.

The Travelers' Canadian P&C insurance business is a well-established multi-line business, which includes commercial and specialty lines portfolios, and personal lines business. The Travelers Transaction strengthens the Company's leadership position, particularly in the broker channel, and delivers on the Company's financial objectives and inorganic growth strategy.

The Company financed the approximate $3.3 billion in cash consideration as follows:

- $385.4 million in gross proceeds were raised on June 11, 2025 from concurrent private placements of common shares to the Company's cornerstone investor, Healthcare of Ontario Pension Plan Trust Fund, representing 19.9% of the gross proceeds, and a group of underwriters through the issuance of 5,782,256 common shares of the Company at a price of $66.65 per common share. After payment of underwriter commissions of $13.9 million ($10.2 million net of applicable taxes), $375.2 million was recorded as incremental share capital.
- On September 12, 2025, the Company completed a private placement of notes for gross proceeds of $1 billion comprised of (i) $650 million principal amount of 3.709% Series 1 senior unsecured notes due September 12, 2030 and (ii) $350 million principal amount of 4.393% Series 2 senior unsecured notes due September 12, 2035.
- The Company secured fully syndicated acquisition-related bank facilities, comprised of a $1.1 billion excess capital term loan and a $375 million bank term loan, which were fully drawn upon the closing of the Travelers Transaction on January 2, 2026. On February 2, 2026, the excess capital term loan was repaid in its entirety.
- The remaining cash requirement of approximately $0.4 billion was funded through internal cash and investments.

In May 2025, the Company entered into a foreign exchange forward contract with a notional amount of $2.4 billion United States dollars, which was contingent on the closing of the acquisition, to hedge the expected purchase price. The contract was designated as a cash flow hedge against the risk of adverse currency movements between the announcement and closing date of the acquisition. The acquisition was considered to be highly probable. Sources of hedge ineffectiveness included the hedging premium associated with deal contingent foreign exchange forwards. During the three months ended March 31, 2026, a $1.2 million loss on the designated hedge was recorded in "Other comprehensive income" ("OCI") in the interim consolidated statements of comprehensive (loss) income. Upon the closing of the acquisition and settlement of the foreign exchange forward contract, amounts recorded in OCI have been reclassified to the acquisition consideration.

During the three months ended September 30, 2026, the Company incurred acquisition-related expenses of nil (September 30, 2025: $1.9 million) and integration expenses of $13.6 million (September 30, 2025: $7.7 million) related to the Travelers Transaction, which are included in "Other expenses" in the interim consolidated statements of (loss) income. During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, the Company incurred acquisition-related expenses of $16.5 million (September 30, 2025: $15.3 million) and integration expenses of $47.0 million (September 30, 2025: $9.5 million) related to the Travelers Transaction. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2026, the Company recognized $496.4 million and $1,673.5 million in revenue (included in "Insurance revenue"), respectively, and $17.7 million net loss and $61.2 million of net income, respectively, from the acquisition in the interim consolidated statements of (loss) income. Insurance revenue and net (loss) income reflect the application of GMM accounting, which results in a gross up presentation of insurance revenue, as disclosed in note 8(c).

The preliminary allocation of the purchase price consideration of the acquisition to the fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed as at the acquisition date was as follows:

(in millions of dollars)
Purchase price cash consideration (net of cash acquired of $348.2 million)	$ 2,945.4
Foreign exchange forward contract hedge	(5.9)
Total purchase price	$ 2,939.5
Allocated to:
Investments	4,594.1
Income taxes receivable	2.4
Reinsurance contract assets	308.5
Property and equipment	19.9
Deferred income tax assets	65.7
Other assets	42.0
Insurance contract liabilities	(2,841.9)
Accounts payable and other liabilities	(101.7)
Income taxes payable	(45.0)
Net identifiable tangible assets acquired	2,044.0
Finite-life intangible assets acquired:
Distribution network	620.0
Software	1.9
Deferred income tax liabilities (associated with intangible assets)	(163.1)
Goodwill	436.7
	$ 2,939.5

The preliminary fair value of the distribution network was based on the multi-period excess earnings method. Key estimates and assumptions included estimating growth rates and profitability, attrition rate, contributory asset charges, and the discount rate which was based on the relative risk of this intangible asset relative to the weighted average cost of capital of the Travelers' Canadian P&C insurance business, corroborated against the internal rate of return of the Travelers Transaction. The acquired distribution network is being amortized on a straight-line basis over 25 years in "Other expenses" in the interim consolidated statements of (loss) income. The resulting goodwill recorded from the transaction was attributable to expected growth and profitability contributions from future distribution channels or customers and the assembled workforce of the acquired business.

(b) National Brokerage Platform

During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, the Company, through its subsidiaries, completed broker acquisitions with a total purchase price of approximately $79 million (subject to post-closing adjustments). The initial purchase price of the acquisitions was funded with cash of $60 million, net of holdbacks for post-closing adjustments, and $13 million in equity subscriptions in McDougall. Upon completion of the broker acquisitions during 2026, the Company's ownership interest in McDougall was approximately 73% (December 31, 2025: 73%).

The preliminary allocation of the purchase price of the acquisitions to the fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed as at the acquisition dates was as follows:

(in millions of dollars)

Purchase price consideration (net of cash acquired of $0.4 million)	$	78.1
Allocated to:
Net identifiable tangible assets acquired		1.0
Customer relationships		38.4
Brand		4.1
Deferred income tax liabilities (associated with intangible assets)		(10.9)
Goodwill		45.5
	$	78.1

The fair value of the customer relationships was based on the multi-period excess earnings method. Key estimates and assumptions included estimating growth rates and profitability, contributory asset charges, and the discount rates which were based on the brokers' weighted average cost of capital. The acquired customer relationships are being amortized on a straight-line basis over 15 years. The fair value of the brands was based on the relief from royalty method and the brands were assessed as having an indefinite useful life. Key estimates and assumptions included the growth rate and the discount rate. The goodwill was attributable to expected growth and profitability contributions and the workforce of the acquired businesses. The goodwill arising from the acquisitions is not deductible for income tax purposes.

Subsequent to September 30, 2026, the Company through its subsidiaries, completed two additional broker acquisitions with a total purchase price of approximately $67 million (subject to post-closing adjustments). The Company is currently in the process of assessing the fair values of the identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed, including the valuation of tangible assets and intangible assets.

There were no transfers of financial instruments between the levels during the three months or nine months ended September 30, 2026 (year ended December 31, 2025: nil).

(c) Derivative financial instruments

The Company holds futures contracts, which are contractual obligations to buy or sell financial instruments on a future date at a specified price established in an organized market. The futures contracts are exchange-traded and collateralized by cash. As at September 30, 2026, the Company had derivative financial assets related to futures contracts with a notional amount of $75.7 million (December 31, 2025: nil) and derivative financial liabilities related to futures contracts with a notional amount of $332.1 million (December 31, 2025: $360.0 million). These derivatives have an expected maturity date within the next year. The fair value of the derivative financial instruments related to futures contracts was not significant.

During 2026, the Company entered into foreign exchange forward contracts to manage its exposure to currency movements arising from future cash outflows denominated in United States dollars. These contracts were designated as cash flow hedges. As at September 30, 2026, the Company had derivative financial assets related to foreign exchange forward contracts with a notional amount of $66.0 million United States dollars. During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, a gain of $0.6 million on the designated cash flow hedges was recorded in OCI.

The weighted average remaining contractual life for the outstanding options as at September 30, 2026 was 7.8 years (December 31, 2025: 8.0 years).

The fair value of stock options granted was measured using the Black-Scholes option pricing model. The fair value of stock options granted during the nine months ended September 30, 2026 was $2.2 million (September 30, 2025: $1.7 million). The recorded compensation expense during the three months ended September 30, 2026 for the stock options was $0.5 million (September 30, 2025: $0.4 million). The recorded compensation expense during the nine months ended September 30, 2026 for the stock options was $1.4 million (September 30, 2025: $1.1 million).

The key assumptions used to measure the fair value of options granted under the Black-Scholes option pricing model at the date of grant were as follows during the period:

	Nine months ended September 30
	2026	2025
Share price at the date of grant	$ 67.29	$ 59.64
Exercise price	$ 67.29	$ 59.64
Expected share price volatility	20.0%	20.0%
Expected life of options	6.25 years	6.25 years
Expected dividend yield	1.7%	1.5%
Risk-free interest rate	2.9%	2.8%

During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, 6,215 stock options were exercised for cash proceeds of $0.2 million. The Company transferred $0.1 million from contributed surplus to share capital, representing the fair value of the exercised options, resulting in an increase in share capital of $0.3 million.

18. INSURANCE RISK MANAGEMENT

The liability for remaining coverage ("LRC") and assets for remaining coverage ("ARC") measured under the GMM, as well as liabilities for incurred claims ("LIC") and assets for incurred claims ("AIC") are sensitive to changes in interest rates and the risk adjustment for non-financial risk.

The following table presents the interest rate sensitivity analysis on the net of LRC and ARC as at September 30, 2026 for a one percentage point change in interest rates (assuming a parallel shift across the yield curve):

(in millions of dollars)
Change in interest rate (on the net of LRC and ARC)		+ 1 pt		- 1 pt
Impact on income before income taxes	$	48.1	$	(51.2)

The following table presents the sensitivity of risk adjustment for a five percentage point change in the confidence level on the net of LRC and ARC as at September 30, 2026:

(in millions of dollars)
Change in risk adjustment (on the net of LRC and ARC)		+ 5 pts		- 5 pts
Impact on income before income taxes	$	(26.3)	$	25.7

The following table presents the interest rate sensitivity analysis on the net of LIC and AIC as at September 30, 2026 for a one percentage point change in interest rates (assuming a parallel shift across the yield curve):

(in millions of dollars)
Change in interest rate (on the net of LIC and AIC)		+ 1 pt		- 1 pt
Impact on income before income taxes	$	72.8	$	(76.9)

The following table presents the sensitivity of risk adjustment for a five percentage point change in the confidence level on the net of LIC and AIC as at September 30, 2026:

(in millions of dollars)
Change in risk adjustment (on the net of LIC and AIC)		+ 5 pts		- 5 pts
Impact on income before income taxes	$	(55.3)	$	42.1

19. FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The Company's financial instruments, including investments, are exposed to variability from interest rate risk (including the impact of credit spreads), equity market price risk and preferred stock price risk, credit risk, foreign exchange risk, and liquidity risk as disclosed in note 7 of the Company's audited consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2025. The below table has been updated as at September 30, 2026 to reflect the acquisition of the Canadian P&C insurance operations of Travelers.

The impact of an immediate hypothetical one percentage point change in interest rates (assuming a parallel shift across the yield curve) on the Company's bond portfolio, with all other variables held constant, is as follows:

(in millions of dollars)
Change in interest rate (on the measurement of the Company's bond portfolio)		+ 1 pt		- 1 pt
Impact on income before income taxes	$	(317.8)	$	336.3

20. RISKS RELATED TO ECONOMIC UNCERTAINTY

Geopolitical events, including the imposition of cross-border tariffs and political unrest including the conflicts involving Iran, have resulted in heightened economic uncertainty and volatile global financial markets. The Company is continuing to closely monitor the resulting and evolving economic impact on its operations and capital position, and on the material judgments, estimates, and assumptions used in preparing the Company's interim financial statements. The most immediate impact of the uncertainty is volatility in capital markets and the related impact on gains and losses on the Company's investment portfolio. The Company's strong capital position, resilient operating model, and diversified risk profile continue to position the Company well for this period of elevated uncertainty.
