MeridianLink's TazWorks Expands Employment Verification Capabilities with Partner MeasureOne

9/21/2021

COSTA MESA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- MeridianLink, Inc. (NYSE: MLNK) today announced TazWorks, its leading technology platform for independent background screening professionals, has expanded employment verification offerings with data provider MeasureOne. MeasureOne's consumer-permissioned data platform-as-a-service is a comprehensive, automated system for accessing, acquiring, parsing, and delivering education, employment, income, and other consumer data solutions.

"We appreciate the opportunity to expand our partnership with MeridianLink, TazWorks, and their background screening community," said Yaron Oren, chief revenue officer, MeasureOne. "We've seen a lot of success collaborating with TazWorks to deliver our innovative, alternative approach to verifying educational data. We look forward to bringing the same benefits of our consumer-permissioned approach to verification of employment, such as speed, cost-efficiency, accuracy, and transparency."

This partnership enables TazWorks to offer employment verification that provides expansive coverage, with broader data access than previously available. The solution also offers flexible deployment options for seamless integrations.

"The addition of MeasureOne's employment verification is a great win for TazWorks clients," said Amy Daniels, senior vice president, Partner Marketplace, MeridianLink. "This product offers applicant-permissioned data to businesses where only the necessary information is extracted and shared. We see this as an important advancement as applicant privacy, which is a top priority for all parties involved."
